

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Video coding method and device for reducing the number of motion vector bits, the method and device differentially coding the motion vectors at each temporal decomposition level by predicting the motion vectors temporally and coding the differences.